2023-2024 Junior Software Developer Nov-Feb Generation Thailand

- Acquired crucial skills to transition careers, including cultivating a growth mindset, honing effective communication, and fostering strong teamwork.
- Project - Developed a fitness web application designed to monitor users' exercise routines, taking charge of both the frontend using React.js and the backend employing Node.js and Express.js. On the frontend, I created activity cards for visualizing users' activities and implemented mechanisms for user-initiated requests to be transmitted to the server. Meanwhile, the backend features APIs that manage various user interactions, including tasks like user login and directing to the dashboard. This includes responding to requests for displaying all activity cards on the dashboard, ensuring a prompt and tailored backend response.
